THE COUNTRY.

Thursday morning, an irresistable desire to take a mouthful of fresh country air, se zed upon us. We bestrode one of John W. Wadsworth's best horses (fit for a general of cavalry to ride,) and made our way to Sample's. store, certain of a kind reception and a good dinner. Along the route we saw evidences of improvements; several houses and barns going up, and other signs of progress. We rode slowly along to enjoy the prospect, and truly, it was a pleasing and hopeful one. While other portions of the country have suffered so much from drouth; this favored region has been blessed with a most excellent season Agriculture has improved all over the country wonderfully within the last two years, but nowhere more so, than in Providence. The farmers here are gentleman of intelligence, know the value of home-made and commercial fertilizers, and use them with an unsparing hand. They keep up a farmer's club, where they meet to discuss the best mode of applying the manures and of cultivating the soil; then with good seasons it is to be expected they will have magnificent crops, which is certainly the case this | 20

Mr. James Caldwell has a lot of the finest corn we ever saw, not excepting what we have seen on the Roanoke or the James Rivers. Mr. Sample and several others gave it as their opinion that it would make 120 bushels to the acre. It is a hig estimate but when we say that every care was taken to prepare and enrich the soil, and that it stands in rows three feet apart, and eighteen inches from stalk to stalk, every one of which has one good ear and many two, we can readily believe that they have made a right close guess. We met many of the planters from the neighborhood, all of whom were in high spirits and thought with one more good rain (which w) practically know they got in the evening) they would make nearly as much cotton as they dilliet year. After a most delightful dinner at Mr. Sample's, at which peaches and all the vegetables of the season figured, we made our way to the hospitable residence of Mr. E. C. Grier, with whom we had a pleasant chat, and a sight of his fine cotton field. We intended to continue our ride down to Mr. Robert Grier's, to see his fish ponds and scuppernong vines, and al-to to look in upon Col. J. S. Reed, but the threatening storm induced us to turn our face homeward: We lingered too long, for wa had scarcely reached the colored church when the big drops began to fall and before we could take shelter was drenched to and the flashes of lightning were the most vivid we ever may. After an hour's shelter we saddled up and was on the way again, but at Bolik's shop were overtaken or rather met by nother storm, which drove us into the fine and hospitable mansion of Mr. Joseph Stewart, where we were kindly cared for. Mr. Stewart is about three fourths our size, so he and we had to do our best to push our editorial corporocity into a suit of his clothes, and after very vigorous efforts, we (that is; he and I) succeeded. and for the first time in twenty years we presented the appearance of a fashionable man.

After a very pleasant night and an early breakfast, we pushed homewards and to the Trmes Office, to thank our any kind of printing that may be friends for their many acts of kindcalled for, in style unsurpassed by ness and hospitality which made the day so pleasant and agreeable.

> GRAND DRESS BALL .- Mossrs, Peyton & Co., the Proprietors of the Greenbriar White Sulphur Springs, will give the crowning Ball of the season on the 31st of August, at which the prest gues of the Prese distinguished literati, Wariors, Statesmen, and prominent persons from all the various avenews of life are to be folk for want of seamen, was commis-present. The Springs have been sioned, to-day, and will sail shortly orawded this season, and the society there at this time can not be surpassed on the continent, if in the world. Wases from the Richmond papers and those still further North, that this ball will be made the occasion for a still greater inpouring of the fashionable, wealthy and cuitivated.

If any of our readers wish to par-Rev. H. R. Dickson will preach in the pate in one of the most recherchie affairs that is likely to occur in their time, they might avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the Greenbriar Springs. We thank the Proprictors for the invitation sent us.
